Held Annual Meeting.

The stockholders of the Bank of Edgefield held their annual meeting Saturday in the directors' room of the bank. Considering the season of business depression and the acute financial situation through which we are passing, the bank has had a very satisfactory year, the hearts of the stockholders being made happy through the resolution adopted to pay at once an 8 per cent. dividend. The statement of the bank's affairs which was presented by the president, Hon. J. C. Sheppard, was very heartily commended by the stockholders. The bank has deposits of $341,718.29, and loans amounting to $425,174.62. Its capital stock is $57,400 and the institution has a surplus of $35,000, besides undivided profits of about $8,000. The bank has borrowed $90,000 from other banks. The old board of directors was re-elected for the ensuing year and the following officers were re-elected: J. C. Sheppard, president; A. S. Tompkins, vice-president; E. J. Mims, cashier, and J. H. Allen, assistant cashier. The statement of the bank is published in this issue.

Do not forget to insist upon genuine Ford parts. We have a full supply on hand all the time.

Interesting News Letter From Trenton.

Monday afternoon the Episcopal Sunday School gave their children an egg hunt at Salter's pond. After the hunt delightful sandwiches and ice tea was served.

On Tuesday last, Mrs. J. R. Moss surprised her husband with a six o'clock birthday dinner. The table was beautiful in its decorations, with baskets of pink roses at each end and in the center was a birthday cake with 45 candles. An elegant three-course turkey dinner was served. The guests included were the immediate family, Mrs. Susie Miller and Mrs. Susie Wise.

Mrs. Pick Salter, Mrs. E. L. Ryan, Mrs. E. W. King, Misses Grace Salter and Julia Wise were visitors in Augusta on Wednesday last.

Miss Emma Bouknight has as her guest Mrs. John Skinner, of New York.

It was a great surprise on last Wednesday when Miss Orrie Miller and Mr. John Mathis were married in Augusta. They are now spending their honeymoon in Crescent City, Florida. After two weeks visit they will make Augusta their home.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wise and William Wise spent Sunday in Louisville, Ga., with Mrs. Ed Strother.

Mrs. E. W. King and Miss Grace Salter gave a surprise party at Miss Julia Wise's Friday evening. After several games of cards and Hearts Dice were played, punch and cake were served.

Rev. and Mrs. Hammie Ethredge are spending the week with relatives in Trenton.

Miss Ruth Crouch and Mrs. Matheny, of Saluda, have been visiting Miss Sabe Miller.

The Kill Kare Club had a delightful picnic on Saturday last near Aiken.

Mr. John McCarty of Saluda is visiting Miss Ethel Harrison.

Mrs. Ben Miller entertained the Trenton D. A. R. Chapter last Wednesday. After the business was transacted a social half-hour was spent, and during that time Mrs. Miller served a delightful salad course and ice tea.

Mr. Jas. D. Mathis has enjoyed splendid fishing in his private pond just below Trenton in the last few days during the delightful weather. On one afternoon with two of his friends he caught nine beautiful trout, the largest weighing 2 1-4 pounds. The next afternoon he was accompanied by Mr. Lott, of Johnston, and they caught a string of eight trout, the largest weighing four pounds, being caught by Mr. Lott.

Echoes From the Blue Bird Party.

Announcing the engagement of Miss Emma Bettis Bouknight to Mr. Leland Long Miller, of Richmond, Virginia.

The receiving line was composed of Mrs. J. D. Mathis, Sr., Misses Emma Bouknight, Dollie Bettis, Mrs. P. B. Day, Mrs. Wilmer Ouzts, Mrs. Charles Graham, Misses Katherine Mims, Maude Bettis and Mrs. Skinner. Mrs. Wallace Wise received the guests at the door. Mrs. J. R. Moss conducted them to the punch bowl, and Misses Sue Timmerman and Sara Seigler served punch. Mrs. W. H. Moss escorted the guests to the receiving line and Mrs. Rudolph Swearingen and Mrs. E. L. Ryan accompanied them to the dining room, where Mrs. D. R. May and Mrs. L. C. Eidson cut the cake and cream which was served by Misses Fannie and Ethel Harrison. All in the dining room were evening dresses. Miss Julia Wise presided over the hand-painted blue bird bride's book. Others assisting were Mrs. Susie Miller, Mrs. J. H. Courtney, Mrs. E. W. King and Miss Grace Salter. Miss Arah Gatlin had charge of the musical program and she and Miss Susie Mathis furnished music throughout the afternoon. The program began when Mrs. C. P. Corn, of Johnston, with Mrs. Maxwell as accompanist, sang Schubert's Serenade. Miss Maude Bettis sang an Irish Love Song and Miss Gatlin played, To a Wild Rose. Then Miss Gatlin sounded the wedding march and little Miss Kathleen Mathis entered from the dining room, marching through the parlor and hall and ascended the stair steps and upon reaching the first landing, with outstretched arms she held the shower bouquet, from which the guests each took a rose bud, to which a tiny blue bird, on the back of which was inscribed the initials, E. B. B. and E. L. M., Apr. 28th, thus revealing the date of the marriage.

ECHOES FROM THE BLUE BIRD PARTY

The engagement of Miss Emma Bettis Bouknight, one of Edgefield county's most charming young women, and Mr. Leland Long Miller, of Richmond, Virginia, was announced in a most novel manner at a lovely tea given by that peerless hostess, Mrs. J. D. Mathis, Sr., at her elegant Trenton home on Thursday afternoon, March 31st.

Mrs. Wallace Wise welcomed the guests at the door, after which Mrs. J. R. Moss conducted them to the flower-bedecked punch bowl, in the music room, where Misses Sue Timmerman and Sara Zeigler served delicious fruit nectar.

Mrs. W. H. Moss introduced the guests to the receiving line standing in the reception room. With the hostess and honoree stood Misses Maude and Dollie Bettis and Katherine Mims and Mesdames Wilbur Outz, Charles Graham, P. B. Day and Skinner.

The guests were then invited into the dining room by Mrs. Rudolph Swearingen and Mrs. L. L. Ryan.

Seated at the ends of the beautifully appointed tea table, which was most artistically decorated with sprays of woodland flowers in which blue-birds, those messengers of happiness memorialized in Maeterlinck's fanciful play, flashed their vivid wings, completing the novel decorations used throughout the spacious lower floor, which was en suite for the elaborate entertainment.

Mrs. D. R. Day and Mrs. L. C. Eidson wearing lovely evening gowns cut the pound cake and block cream, which was served with prettily colored mints by Misses Fannie and Ethel Harrison, also in dainty evening dresses.

Miss Julia Wise presided over the hand-painted blue bird bride's book, in which the guests registered.

Others who assisted in making the occasion one of delightful hospitality were Mrs. Susie Miller, Mrs. J. H. Courtney, Mrs. E. W. King and Miss Grace Salter.

Miss Arah Gatlin had charge of the delightful musical program which added such a joyous note to the afternoon's pleasure, she and Miss Susan Mathis playing many lovely selections before the regular program which commenced with Mrs. C. P. Corn's Serenade by Schubert, accompanied by Mrs. Maxwell, both artists being from Johnston. Miss Maude Bettis sang a soulful Irish love song and Miss Gatlin played To a Wild Rose. Then she sounded Mendelssohn's wedding march which was the signal for little Kathleen Mathis to enter from the dining room marching through the hall and onto the winding stairway taking her place on the first landing. She made a sweet picture in her exquisite little accoridian pleated Georgette frock, a bridal veil framing her childish face and form. In her arms she held a beautiful shower bouquet of rose buds, each guest being given one and on to the head was attached a tiny blue bird, across which was written the initials, E. B. B. and L. L. M., April 28th—thus was the interesting day announced by this omen of happiness, and a shower of good wishes descended on the bride-to-be, who looked extremely attractive in an elegant Parisian costume.

The announcement is of great interest to a wide circle of friends in South Carolina, where Miss Bouknight is prominently connected and unusually admired and beloved.

Are You Satisfied?

One great writer has said the self-satisfaction marks inability or unwillingness to go farther—a sign of stupid vanity or dull intelligence. And it's true.

Men are expected to move forward, to grow, to progress, to prosper. If you are satisfied, you stop. We should all try to move ahead, to get ahead, to always be up and doing. Ours is that sort of a bank. We want more customers. We want more business. We want to render greater service to this community. We want you for a customer. That's why we invite you to do business with this reliable bank.
